"I think that it's important because drugs and alcohol can affect your life tremendously. They can make it to where you can't play sports. Drugs and alcohol can wreck your life forever."

Hometown Hero:

"Scott Williams is my hometown hero because he is very well known and respected in our community. He is always helping with the younger kids in the community for baseball and wherever he can step up and help with anyone he does. Scott also helps wherever he can in the community outside of sports. He helps with dinners and things where he can help in the community. Scott is a great all-around person and helps everyone he can. Scott also coached me while I was growing up playing baseball and always made it fun and helped me fall in love with the game of baseball."
