

The Above and Beyond 'Thunder Clap'
Recognition for the Week of January 16th:

Lilly Kufner

Hometown Pride:

“Just last year I was new to Osseo, and now I have an amazing group of friends who were incredibly kind to me and welcomed me into Osseo. I'm proud to be one of those kind welcoming people now.”

Bleacher Report (activities):

Sports: Track

Clubs: Above and Beyond, Student Council

Thunder Role:

“It's important to be a good role model because, younger kids in our community look up to us. By giving them a good example to look up to you are only making our community more friendly.”

Topic Thunder:

“When you abuse drugs you risk ruining future opportunities.”

Scouting Report (quotes from teachers):

“While I don't currently have Lilly in class, she still never hesitates to greet me with a friendly smile when I see her in the hallway. Lilly definitely makes our school a better place to be!” – Mr. Stoik

“Lilly is such a breath of fresh air. She changes the atmosphere immediately when entering the classroom with her positive spirit.” – Mrs. Simpson

Fan Deck (quotes from peers):

“Lilly Kufner is always kind to everybody and will help me in band when I'm struggling.”

“Lillian is so kind to everyone around her and a great student. There is not a day where she isn't positive.”

“She is truly a good person. She became friends with people who don't like me and has never treated me based on their opinions, only her own experiences of me.”

“Lilly, because the first day I met her she was so incredibly nice to me and every day since then she has been just as sweet to me as well as others around her.”

“She just moved here a year ago and immediately got involved in school activities and clubs. Lillian is in a school ran sport, she's in Above and Beyond, and contributes to many other things with her friends.”

“She is nice to everyone she meets.”

Hometown Hero:

“My hometown hero is my mom, Maggie Kufner. Similar to many moms she is caring, loving, and makes me feel safe. She is different from other moms though. We can tell each other secrets, laugh at people falling, and have our "treat yourself" days. I'm very lucky to have a hometown hero who I can always confide in.”
