

The Above and Beyond 'Thunder Clap'
Recognition for the Week of November 29th:

Molly Hangartner

Hometown Pride:

"I am proud because our community comes together and helps out. There are certain people who choose to help out and there are people who don't. Our community helps clean up around town and helps people when they are in need."

Bleacher Report (activities):

Sports: Volleyball, Basketball, Softball

Clubs: Above and Beyond

Outside of School: Part of the Auxiliary

Thunder Role:

"I feel that being a good role model is very important. Others, like students, could be looking up to you without your knowledge of it. Those students might make the same decisions or choices you do."

Topic Thunder:

"Drugs, tobacco, and alcohol should not be used by any person. All of those things can affect the way that a person thinks, works, or acts. They could make you do worse in games, school, and general life."

Scouting Report (quotes from teachers):

"Molly is a hard working young lady. She is friendly and respectful in the classroom and on the court. She has a great personality and a kind heart." – Mr. Fischer

"Molly is one of the hardest working volleyball players on the team. I was honored to celebrate a freshman with the "Dedication" award this season. Molly is the first to ask for open gyms, not afraid to try a new technique when coached and was even the only one at an open gym and stayed the entire time to get extra help. Dedication like that is hard to come by and I'm super proud of her. Awesome job Molly!" – Mrs. Steinke

Fan Deck (quotes from peers):

"Molly is a good person to talk to about your problems, and will never say she doesn't have time for you."

"Molly Hangartner always helps people and has supplies for people like first aid, pads, and tissues. She has good sportsmanship on the court and in school."

"Molly Hangartner is very nice, and a good person to be around. She makes sure those that are around her are included."

Hometown Hero:

"Ken Hangartner because he is my dad, and he helps people when they are in need."
